Saddle Bags

For years trail riders have ruined countless leather saddle bags in their quest to fill them with beer and ice, in hopes of a refreshing mid-ride beverage. Over 20 years ago founder of Professional's Choice, Dal Scott, was struggling with this very issue. After much experimentation Dal created a bag from limestone-based neoprene that functioned like a soft cooler and allowed him to carry ice with his beer. The effect? Icy cold beer that tasted like it was straight out of the kitchen fridge but with his horse beside him and a million dollar view from the hills.

Eventually, Dal decided to share his discovery with the public and began offering the saddle bags for sale through Professional's Choice. Today they are an industry favorite due to the fact that they can hold real ice without leaking a drop so that your beer may churn for hours in the ice and emerge from the bag barely above freezing. In addition, the neoprene bags stretch and contract with each stride so that they stay firmly in place on the saddle, rather than flapping on the horse's sides during brisk paces like many traditional saddle bags. Perfect for carbonated beverages, the Professional's Choice Saddle Bags benefit from the combination of cool temperature and energy absorbing material, ensuring that your drink will never fizz or overflow no matter how wild things get on the trail.

In addition, the Professional's Choice Saddle Bags are great for packing a hot lunch, safeguarding cameras from unfriendly weather, and even protecting medicine against freezing temperatures when working on the ranch. The insulating, leak-proof design means the possibilities are endless!

Retractable Cones

Cones are more than just a training tool - they are a necessary safety measure. Cones have long since been used in the arena to help with training and improving geometry but also in the truck or trailer as a roadside safety tool in the case of breakdowns.

The Professional's Choice Retractable Cone is the latest evolution of the standard safety cone. Made of lightweight nylon and completely retractable these cones not only are perfect for storage but also have the unique feature of adjustable height. This way they can be made smaller for arena use and larger for roadside situations that require heightened visibility.

Hay Bags

Hay bags are a must for any traveling equine. Easily hung from numerous places including the outside of trailers, hay bags make feeding your horse on the go, simple. When choosing a hay bag for your horse there are several features to look for. Top loading hay bags with large openings make them easy to fill and a mesh bottom is ideal so that dirt and debris
