CINCH & GIRTH SIZING CHARTS

IDEAL LENGTH

All of our cinches and girths measure true to size buckle-end to buckle-end. Always make sure to cinch and girth up evenly on both sides of the saddle.

ENGLISH

DRESSAGE/MONOFLAP GIRTHS - It is recommended the girth be about 4-6 inches from the bottom of the saddle flap to the end of the girth. This gap can be on the longer side for monoflap saddles. Make sure the buckles are sitting above the elbow to prevent pressure on the pectoral muscles.

DOUBLE FLAP GIRTHS - It is recommended the buckles are not located high under your thigh where they can be felt while riding, or so low that you have less than 2 billet holes below the buckles.

WESTERN

CINCHES - It is recommended to have approximately 6-8 inches from the cinch buckle to the rigging dee. Placing the cinch too low will put pressure on pectoral muscles and interfere with the horse's movement. Placing the cinch too high will cause the saddle to roll.
